

legacy of legends

There will be people that enter your life whose influence will leave an immeasurable impact. Though it only seemed to be a season, their ordained presence in your life causes a rippling effect passing on into eternity.

My teen years were the most vital building years of my faith. Those who invested into my life then are now seeing the fruits from what they once planted several years ago. I am overwhelmed by the thoughts of those who imparted God's love and Word to me so that I could begin to do the same for others. One of those who left a lasting imprint on my life was Pastor Wade luey.

Wade loved big, went out of his comfort zone to share the Good News with everyone, and shined Christ's love and joy like no other. He imparted those blessings to me as a teen... and it made ALL the difference!

Pastor Wade luey entered the Kingdom of Heaven on January 8, 2017 after a car accident took his earthly body. The Lord had once shown Wade that he was investing into legends for the Kingdom. Before Wade passed from this earth, the Lord reminded him of that call and each one of us who were now spread across the globe. His last broadcasted sermon left us with one important reminder.

Be consumed with the call of God on your life!”

I am a life that was forever changed because Wade gave everything he had to the call God had on his life. I pray I can pay it forward with the same message to this next generation. It's an honor I'm not worthy of, yet it is the worthiest calling. I pray that this legacy of legends in the Kingdom of Heaven continues in you!

With great gratitude and the most precious memories, thank you, Wade. Thank you, Francine Ivey. Thank you, Neil & Kim Vallini. Thank you, Mott & Brenda Pruitt.
